

John F. Cameron – Managing Attorney

“I have always had a passion for business. As an attorney serving business clients, I am able to combine my legal training with my passion. From the moment we are contacted by a new client, we focus on understanding our client’s situation, goals and immediate needs. With these things in mind, we are then able to develop a strategy that helps them make informed decisions on their timeline – not ours.”

BIOGRAPHY

John’s decision to attend law school stemmed from his interest in business. He figured he would be better at business with a law degree. It turns out that his passion for business has resulted in a practice that encompasses commercial and real estate transactions, litigation and employment law related to them. His newest venture, HaloBay Capital, LLC, is a private investment firm that brings together the dealmakers on real estate and business investments.

John received his law degree from William Mitchell School of Law in 1991 and has a B.A. in business administration from the College of St. Thomas. He opened his own practice in 1992, starting with commercial and employment litigation. John is a native of St. Paul, MN.
